Jardim Vases

This pair of vases is inspired by the luscious vegetation in Alexander Lamont's workshop garden. Palm leaves of various types, dried and pressed, create a wonderfully nuanced texture across the bold shape of the vases. When cast in bronze and patinated to a soft autumnal tone, these natural, delicate and perishable forms live on, bringing into the room the beauty and wildness of the garden.

Poche Vases

Like ancient leather, the Poche vases swelled and cracked during the sculpting. With gentle curves and the marks of movement and age, these chic vessels adorn quietly.

Small FG006154 - H 5 1/4" / 13.5 cm : Dia 6" / 15.5 cm

Musa Vessel

The banana flower is encased with wonderful thick leaves that curl and roll as they dry. South African sculptress Astrid Dahl has created the Musa vessel for Alexander Lamont as an undulating bowl that sits in tropical splendour on any piece of furniture.

Paulia Vessel

An African Violet was the inspiration for this bronze form of sensual curves and falling lobes. Astrid Dahl sculpts rich organic works for Alexander Lamont, inspired by the delicate petals and leaves of tropical flora.

Aphyllum Vase
Encyclia Vase
Maxillia Vase

Three sensual forms that were inspired by the architecture of tropical orchids. Tendrils branch upwards and thick labellums fan outwards to create pulsing, erotic lines.

Pointillist Vessels

Winner of the UNESCO award for contemporary design and craft excellence, these striking vessels are enveloped in an armor-like layer of luscious verdigris beads. Holding these pieces leaves a beautiful imprint on the palm.

Paglia Vases

Three monumental vases that have layered, seemingly archaic, striated surfaces. Like splinter rocks on Jurassic coastlines, they emit beautiful shadow and light.

Twisted Stem Vases

Inspired by antique Japanese Ikebana vessels, the twisted wood softens when cast. The surface was patinated before gold leaf was applied and burnished.

Lusty Vessels

Voluptuous bowls that have a surface that is cool and smooth to the touch. At first they were inspired by the lobes and scale of a Japanese hibachi brazier, but then they began to melt into the form of a pumpkin.

Lost Leaf Vessels

The subtle, veined and light texture of natural lotus leaves give form to these delicate vases. Cast in a copper alloy, the leaf is patinated with Japanese techniques to create the varied tones of nature

Paglia Square Tray

Uneven and textured edges in cast brass delicately reflect the mottled texture of the wonderful Brazilian Lacewood base.

Jardim Candleholders

The teak tree is the most symbolic and enigmatic tree of South East Asia, and its wood, highly valued for its hardness and durability, is found in gardens across Europe. Alexander Lamont wanted to make the simplest form with the beautiful teak leaves that fall to the ground in the forests, curling into wonderfully sculptural, sensual forms. Wrapped into subtle, undulating shapes, they are cast in bronze to create the Jardim Candleholders.

Paglia Candleholders

Paglia is the Italian word for 'straw', which inspired these candleholders. Bundles of straw were cut and shaped to reveal the layers and textures like eroded cliff faces. They have an archaic yet modern aspect in the room.

Raven

Ravens are the symbols of London. On a visit to London when I was about 6 years old, I went to the Tower with my parents and was pecked by a Raven. It became a bird of mythical and actual ominousness. Many years later I have tried to capture a less brutal aspect of the Raven, its head slightly cocked, the black patina softened with Japanese powders.

Toad

The Japanese word for toad (kaeru) also means 'to return' and so the Japanese toad has become a symbol of hope and good fortune.

Fonte de Glace

The Fonte de Glace group of vases is inspired by the idea of melting ice and the silvery-white, aqueous tones of a garden in winter; after carving, the ice gradually melts, its sharp edges becoming smooth and soft like an icicle hanging from a tree. These forms are contemporary and lens-like in how they catch and change the light. Beautiful in the hands, they work well as a group and as pairs.

Coupé Vessels

Sculptural objects that contain and emit light; these large deeply faceted vases have been hewn from rock crystal blocks, rich with inclusions. Some faces have been gilded to bring a vivid contrast to the ice-like clarity of the quartz. No two pieces are the same.

Rock Crystal Libation Cups

A Libation is the ritual act of pouring a liquid as an offering. Inspired by the rhino horn libation cups of China, these rock crystal bowls have soft curving forms that give grace to the clarity and inclusions of rock crystal.

Verglas Ice Bucket

A mighty chunk of rock crystal has been carved by hand to create an ice bucket seemingly made from solid ice. The rough cut form and inclusions inherent in cristal-de-roche give a wonderful elemental aspect to this chicest of ice buckets.

FG004233 - H 6" / 15 cm : Dia 7 1/4" / 18.5 cm

Verglas Rock Crystal Tumblers

Rock crystal carved to create handsome whisky tumblers that have gentle variations in their thickness and profiles to make distinctive and unique drinking vessels. They are a pleasure to have and to hold. Sold as a boxed pair.

Verglas Rock Crystal Wine Glasses

Wine glasses carved from solid rock crystal to create undulating luxurious drinking vessels that call to mind drinking goblets of antiquity while at the same time being strikingly contemporary and simple. Sold as a boxed pair.

FG004235 - H 3 1/4" / 8.5 cm : Dia 3 3/4 - 4 1/2" / 9.5 - 11.5 cm

Orb Candleholders

Three candleholders made with exquisite rock crystal, rich with inclusions and raised on bulbous bronze feet. Their curvaceous bowls have been carved to hold taper and pillar candles. As vessels of light, rock crystal refracts and reflects most elegantly as in the ballrooms of old. The inspiration for these forms is the Japanese Giboshi; an ornament used on bridges that resembles an onion. The delightful spherical form lends itself to a candleholder – with the idea also that the light would show the path across the bridge.

A perfection of colour and surface. The facets of this vessel were slowly ground smooth with the technique traditionally used in jade polishing. Molten glass is 'gathered' on a blowpipe before being blown into the form.

Crucible Candleholders

Crucibles are the vessels where gold, silver and bronze are melted before casting. These forms have a rich textured exterior and a polished interior - to appear like bowls of moving metal as a naked flame flickers inside. They are generous forms holding small votives within.

Tide

Ondas Trays

Like the motion of the sea captured in lost wax bronze, the Ondas Trays flow across the tabletop in a richly textured sculptural wave.

Condor Tray

Part of the Trove collection, the Condor Tray is a sleek and beautifully designed homage to the wings and form of the stingray. Bronze lines rise and taper to form handles while the tray is covered with shagreen - a natural by-product of the fishing industry - that has been admired and cherished in Asia for centuries.

Cloister Vessel Tray

The concept of a 'vessel tray' was born of the idea of making an offering - a table sculpture that expresses the importance and elevation of giving and sharing.

FG006698 - H 2 1/4" / 6 cm : W 13 1/2" / 34 cm : L 20 3/4" / 53 cm

Reef Vessels

Vessels that play on a sculptural idea of 'bondage' with tight knots pulling and making a pattern of raw linearity. The ropes wrap the void and we experience both the sense of wrapping but also the contrasting smooth skin of the interior.

Anemone Vases

In rock pools and coral reefs, soft anemones hold onto rocks as the tides rise and fall; opening, closing, moving with the water. The vases suggest this form-changing idea with their varying patination and shapes that shift when viewed from different sides

Cast boxes that are both sculpture and functional objects. The knots and tightly bound aspect expresses a 'fetishistic' power - the sense that the object has been animated.

Fuma Bowls

Warm bowls inspired by Alexander's early years in Kenya where the family home was always full of local baskets. On the outside these cast vessels have a tightly woven texture in an almost burnt patina, while the inside emits a pale, contemporary silver-leaf luminosity. Like friends, they sit comfortably together.

Meso Boxes

Boxes inspired by the flat-topped pyramid form of the Mayan temples Alexander saw aged 16 on a trip to Mexico. The meticulously finished inlaid straw marquetry and abalone shell is applied in geometric patterns that create strong dimensions alongside the tapering sides. This divine box is made from Walnut and raised on silvered brass feet.

Mantle Boxes

Mantle – the sea bed, caught and dappled by the sun in the shallows, the light changing as you move around it. To achieve this unique sense of depth, layers of straw have been applied and then rubbed through to reveal the lower surfaces reflecting beneath. This special technique is applied onto Walnut cube boxes raised on silvered feet. On a coffee table, shelf or vanity, these forms will seduce eyes and hands and conversation.

Understanding the Materials

Every Alexander Lamont design is handmade from precious natural materials: straw marquetry, shagreen, mica, natural calcite crystal, onyx marble, parchment, indigo, veneers, mother-of-pearl, patinated bronze...

As such they are living materials and each piece will vary in tone and texture according to their nature. The colour and lines of stone and straw; the grain of parchment; the tone of bronze patina, will all be subtly different each time. The techniques we use allow the artisans to express their skills and this also adds a unique aspect to different pieces.

We take great care in every aspect of production of each piece and consider this natural element an essential part of the beauty of our designs and philosophy.

Acquiring an Alexander Lamont work is just the beginning. Nature, time and exceptional craftsmanship, if handled with care, enable each piece to slowly evolve and grow more beautiful, creating heirloom pieces that can be passed to the next generation. Care instructions can be obtained from our representatives.

Couture

Couture is Alexander Lamont's limited collection of furniture and lighting. Each piece is an expression of a dedication to meticulous workmanship, rare materials and an aesthetic taste refined by a life lived between East and West. Hard-won and highly prized skills are evident on every piece, whether surfaced by translucent raw shagreen, slivers of straw marquetry, layers of black natural lacquer or hand-patinated bronze. By reviving and innovating the precious traditions of the past in his own workshops and applying the luxuries of time and skill to contemporary designs, Alexander Lamont creates elements of vitality that dwell in the margin between art and furniture.
